Equinix has introduced Stationery Pack 2 with over 660

e-mail designs for Mac OS X 10.5 ("Leopard") Mail. The e-mail designs can be generated from a total of 122 templates with a mouse click.

Many e-mail templates in Stationery Pack 2 change their designs: a click on the background alters color, themes and photos. A total of 122 high-class templates are thereby transformed into more than 660 possible e-mail designs for nearly every occasion: congratulations, invitations, holidays greetings and much more, says equinix CEO Till Schadde.

Stationery Pack 2 templates contain dynamic text fields, which adapt to the length of your message. To turn your own photos into a virtual postcard with a personal touch, you can insert photos from iPhoto, Aperture and any other picture folder in Mac OS X. Through drop zones and combinations of place holders for pictures, you're able to create e-mails for a variety of occasions.

The Stationery Pack 2 display surface is similar to iTunes and divides the template collection into seven categories. It also sorts according to key words and filters templates with the help of a text search. To give you a better idea of each template, an enlarged preview of each is also provided along with all its design variations.

Stationery Pack 2 is now available in the equinix online store from US$49.95.
