Macintosh

- The Mac Sale is now live with a new bundle. This bundle includes amazing apps such as PathFinder and VideoConverter Pro. As usual, the bundle costs $49.99—a steal for over $500 worth of applications.
- Yazsoft has announced Playback 1.5, a major update to their popular zero configuration media server for Mac OS X. Playback allows anyone to share their media with any Playstation 3, Xbox 360, or other supported UPnP compatible device. Playback can also share media stored in folders or even make entire disks available to a Playstation 3 or Xbox 360. By default, Playback will share almost any content on the users system.
- UNIEA has kicked off their UNIEA Omniverse Photo Contest. They're looking for Omniverse case users to submit photos of their Omniverse in action for a chance to win a $100 gift certificate to unieastore.com. Plus, all photo submissions will be used to create a new Omniverse video that they'll be publishing in the Spring. In order to give folks who want to be in the contest a chance to pick up an Omniverse case (in case they already don't have one), they're giving all registrants a 20% off coupon code to use at unieastore.com.
- Mac users can now benefit from secure connections to remote business networks over the Internet. equinix has released VPN Tracker 6.2, a further update to the market-leading IPsec based VPN client for Mac OS X. VPN Tracker 6.2 now supports the Cisco ASA 5500 series and has improved compatibility with many other Cisco devices for quicker connectivity. Available starting today, businesses can save over 50% on the price of single licenses with new business packs.
- Maintain has announced Cocktail 4.7.1 (Snow Leopard Edition), the latest maintenance update of
